Project Description

Under the on-going Master Services Agreement with Pacific Gas and Electric Company (PG&E), Sustainable Group supports continuous construction projects that require the installation and maintenance of exclusion fencing and/or erosion and sediment control BMP's throughout the service territory, which extends from the Oregon-California border to Bakersfield and from the Pacific Ocean to the Sierra Nevada Mountains in a variety of habitats.

Specifically, the work includes the installation and maintenance of exclusion fencing (such as reptile, amphibian, and wildlife) and erosion and sediment control BMPs including, but not limited to the following:

- silt fence
- waddles
- geo textile
- gravel bag berms
- hydro-seeding

During the summer of 2016, Sustainable Group simultaneously deployed 5 crews to restore 120 individual sites within the Butte Fire area located near Jackson, CA. This deadly fire burned over 70,000 acres and required the rebuilding of miles of PG&E transmission lines. Sustainable Group quickly deployed BMPs to support these construction activities as well as arrest soil erosion in the affected areas.
